FOR COMPLETING THE TRAINING

Self-Leadership

A learning journey created with the aim of inspiring and challenging the participant to develop their ability to lead themselves and others. The training has consisted of five fundamental areas that together and gradually build up self-leadership and leadership over a period of 10 weeks.

The ambition with the five main modules was to:

1. Develop the ability to practice exponential learning
2. Establish trust in the relationship with oneself and others
3. Finding the source of motivation for oneself and others
4. Develop the ability to set goals and contribute to developing a good feedback culture
5. Develop the ability to adapt the leadership in different situations through the guidance of the performance model
